Saturday, St. Fergus (optional)

Congratulations to Marina Macleod, who is being baptised during Sunday Mass. We welcome Marina with great joy, and pray for her as well as her family at this important event. Today's feast is a good choice for a baptism, as we are all anointed at our baptism after Christ as "priest, prophet and king".

Last week we began Sacramental preparation for the children of the parish. It was great to see so many, and I know there are a few more who were not able to be here last week. If you have not yet approached me or Heide, about enrolling your child, please do so as soon as possible so that they do not miss out.

Please be extra careful coming to Mass at this time as the number of cases of Covid are very high here just now. Please stick to the green stickers.

Thanks to those of you who attended the online safeguarding training session for parish volunteers on Saturday. I hope it was informative and interesting. If there are any other volunteers who are involved in Childrens' Liturgy, Catechesis or any other activity that involves children or vulnerable adults, you will need training in IGLv2 and there should be a catch-up session you can attend.

The new fortnightly magazine 'The Scottish Catholic' hopes to fill the gap left by the Scottish Catholic Observer. Please let me know if you are interested, so I know how many to order. Next week we begin Advent, and I would like to ask if anyone has any holly, preferably with berries, for the Advent wreath. Just a few sprigs are needed.

A bit of advance notice about Christmas: As you will know, Christmas falls on a Saturday this year. there will be Midnight Mass (I am open to having it earlier if that suits people, or at midnight itself). On Christmas Day there will be Mass at 11am. There will be no Vigil Mass for Sunday, and then on Sunday (Boxing Day), Mass will be at 11am and then 2pm in Harris.

Thank you for the Special Collection last week, for Catholic Education. We collected £120.50, which has been sent to the diocese.
